Special Dispatch to the Louisville Journal.

WASHINGTON, June 6.

CONGRESSIONAL.—The Senate to-day engaged in the consideration of the impeachment question. Whisky is now its specialty. Witnesses are being examined on that fruitful subject to the exclusion of Senatorial corruption.

THE RADICAL CAMP.

It is said by radicals who ought to know that General Grant is by no means gaining in grace with the ultra wing of his party. The breach between him and Butler is widening every day. Grant does not hesitate to say to his private friends that Butler is disgracing the banner of the country, and to stigmatize his course in the most scurrilous manner. Butler, on the other hand, openly blames Grant to be a weak, old Thad. Stevens has literally played out. Colfax is the mediator in these differences. But for his talents at compromising personal and party differences, there would have been an explosion now. There is no doubt that Butler is playing a deep game against Grant, nor much reason to doubt that Grant fully comprehends the nature of the case. He considers his course in the New England Butler's doings. On the other hand, his complexion looks decidedly improved. Whether this is the result of keeping his room or throwing his black both away, the gossips do not say. Colfax is very active. He writes letters all the time that he is not making unfair decisions in the House, and generally makes himself useful and serviceable.

AN IMPOSING TREAT.

Charles Sumner is becoming more and more melancholy and morose. He is very discontented with the attitude of the Republican party. Just now he is said to be studying an able and elaborate speech on China, prepared for him by his friend Mr. Burlingame. It is said that his domestic prospects are somewhat improved.

PRESIDENTIAL TALE.

Gen. Frank Pierce is very warmly in favor of the nomination of Hancock for the Presidency, and has written several letters to his friends in the South, urging them to join in sending delegations to the Fourth of July convention so instructed. Young Adams, of Massachusetts, will be the favorite of New England for the Vice-Presidency. Stanbury, however, begins to be spoken of for President, and the movement may ripen into something tangible in connection with the second place on the ticket. Groseback is also named for Vice-President.

A NOBLE KENTUCKIAN.

A friend of Gen. Breckinridge, who knows his movements very well, has a bold idea that he has been touched with the spirit of McClellan's money. He will be in Canada next month. It is believed that the President will send him word to come home, with a promise of protection in case the radicals try to persecute him. Oscar Burbridge is a Treasury Agent in Europe, and, no doubt, this vague similitude of name engendered the original report.

An Unfortunate Sport.—Joe Towns, a gambler, had six hundred dollars lost on his bid Friday night, by a gent who won his room while he slept. He had won the money in Nashville, and he thinks he was forced to bid.

Service Men Right.

A couple of very young ladies, who came down as the mailboat a few days ago, were picked up yesterday by Lieutenant DeSle, a Cincinnati detective, and carried back home to their bereaved parents, "on the car."

Service Men Right.—John D. Baker was committed to jail yesterday by the United States Commissioner to pay a fine of one hundred dollars and be imprisoned sixty days, for violation of the internal revenue laws.

A Lucky Strike.—Robinson Cason, a negro cook, who has been racing on the lower Ohio river, has received a dispatch from St. Louis notifying him of a legal decision by which he comes into possession of a piece of federal estate worth $1000. He started for St. Louis in a hurry.

Mississippi Research Board.—A negro girl, named Nancy Cassidy, living in the classic region of Smoke-town, mistook her medicine Thursday night and took a tea-cup full of laudanum. She slept very soundly for thirty-six hours, and woke up "quite relieved, she said.

Architectural.—Mr. Frank W. Vogdes, one of our most talented and popular architects, has just associated himself with Messrs. H. P. Bradshaw for a new jail for the city and county, thus finally settling the question.

Architectural.—The floral display Saturday by the Kentucky Horticultural Society exhibited many rare and choice flowers, arranged in exquisite style and lovely bouquets, cheap at double the price.

Architectural.—We thank and congratulate the city and county authorities upon this happy result of their prolonged exertions.

Fire Last Night.

John Doyle's Grocery, George's Green, and Green, destroyed, and other property damaged.

Architectural.—About nine o'clock last night the fire alarm was signalled from box 37, and it was soon discovered that John Doyle's grocery store, No. 142, northeast corner of Fifth and Green streets, was in flames.

The fire originated in this wise: A young man, John Doyle, was engaged in the act of drawing oil from a barrel, when a candle in his hand, when he accidently lit the oil.

Parties to the store endeavoured to remove the barrel, and in the contents were spilled over the floor and quickly set the whole store-room in a blaze.
